U.S. ARMY AIR CORPS

FAR ABOVE NEW YORK'S TOWER-ING SKYSCRAPERS, A MIGHTY
ARMADA OF FLYING FORTRESSES
WING OUT TOWARDS THE ATLAN-TIC.... AMERICA ANSWERS
BRITAIN'S CALL FOR ALL OUT AID...

WITHOUT WARNING, AN EERIE
BLUE LIGHT KNIFES THROUGH THE SKY AND ENVELOPES
THE BOMBER FLEET...

INSIDE THE GIANT PLANES, STARTLED
PILOTS CLUTCH AT THEIR THROATS IN AGONIZED DISMAY...

THE BLUE BEAM GROWS
BRIGHTER AND BRIGHTER!
... SECTIONS OF THE PLANES MELT AWAY...

... SUDDENLY! THERE IS A BLINDING FLASH...

... FOLLOWED BY ANOTHER, AS PLANE AFTER PLANE BECOMES A RAGING BALL OF FIRE!

ON THE STREETS
BELOW, THE HORRI-
FIED PEOPLE DASH FOR SAFETY - AS THE MOLTEN MET-AL RAINS FROM THE SKIES...

... METAL THAT ONLY A FEW SECONDS BEFORE WERE GIANT FLYING BOMBERS
BUILT TO BE ALMOST INVIN-CIBLE IN MODERN WARFARE.

THE FOLLOWING DAY AT THE NATION'S CAPITOL:

...AND HERE'S THE REPORT, SIR--TWENTY BOMBERS ON THEIR WAY TO ENGLAND DISINTEGRATED OVER NEW YORK CITY--CAUSE NOT YET KNOWN!

CAUSE NOT YET KNOWN! THAT'S WHAT THEY SAID ON THE LAST REPORT--FORTY-THREE PLANES HAVE BEEN DEMOLISHED, BUT HOW? WHAT IS BEHIND THIS INCREDIBLE MENACE? WE MUST FIND OUT CAPTAIN, WE MUST!

PREPARATIONS HAVE ALREADY BEEN MADE SIR! I ASSIGNED A MAN WHOSE AVIATION BACKGROUND RATES HIM AMONG THE BEST--IN MY JUDGMENT HE IS THE ONLY PERSON WHO CAN CRACK THIS CASE!

WELL, WHO IS HE CAPT.? IF HE'S HERE, SHOW HIM IN--WE MUST GET STARTED IMMEDIATELY!

SHOW AGENT X-3 IN PLEASE!

SIR, I WANT YOU TO MEET SECRET AGENT X-3---BETTER KNOWN THE WORLD OVER AS CAPTAIN AERO! A FAMOUS PILOT WHO IS HELPING AMERICA FERRY BOMBERS TO ENGLAND!

I'VE HEARD A GREAT DEAL ABOUT YOU AERO--THE CAPTAIN HAS PICKED A WORTHY MAN! YOU ARE FAMILIAR OF COURSE, WITH THE TRAGIC EVENTS THAT HAVE OCCURED--BRITAIN NEEDS OUR HELP NOW AND NOTHING MUST STOP US!

I REALIZE THAT SIR, AND WE HAVE A LEAD ON THIS BLUE BEAM--IT MAY BE A NEW TYPE OF WEAPON THAT HAS BEEN PERFECTED! TO-NIGHT I'M LEAVING FOR THE CARIBBEAN, AND IF MY CALCULATIONS ARE RIGHT, WE'LL GET THE FIENDS BEHIND THIS DEADLY RAY!

I HOPE SO, AERO! THE GOVERNMENT WILL CO-OPERATE IN ANY WAY NEEDED--GOOD LUCK CAPTAIN, YOU KNOW WHAT THIS MEANS TO US!

THANK YOU, SIR, I'LL DO MY BEST!

THAT NIGHT, WITH A CAREFULLY PICKED ASSISTANT, CAPTAIN AERO TAKES OFF FROM THE ARMY AIR-FIELD---BOUND FOR THE CARIBBEAN!

SEVERAL HOURS LATER:

ALLRIGHT PROP.
THE ISLAND IS JUST AHEAD--I'LL TAKE OVER FROM HERE!

OKAY CAP!
SHE'S YOUR BUZZARD!

SUDDENLY, THE DREAD BLUE
RAY CUTS ACROSS THE SKY...
DIRECTLY IN THEIR PATH---

THE BLUE
BEAM!!
QUICK, HIT THE SILK!

AS THE BLUE LIGHT SWEEPS TOWARDS THEIR PLANE, THE TWO AMERICANS
DIVE OUT OF THE COCKPIT...

... AND PLUNGE INTO THE DARKNESS...

THE UNCONTROLLED PLANE
ENTERS THE BEAM OF DESTRUC-TION AND IN A FEW SECONDS
DISSOLVES INTO MOLTEN METAL.

BY CAREFUL MANEUV-
ERING, THEY LAND
THEIR CHUTES ON A NEARBY ISLAND...

WHEW--THAT WAS CLOSE!

YEAH, BUT---I DON'T LIKE THE LOOKS OF THINGS!
WHOEVER IS OPERATING THAT DEATH RAY IS SOMEWHERE NEAR THIS ISLAND!

YOU ARE RIGHT, KAPITAN, AND IT SHALL BE YOUR MISFORTUNE TO MEET
THAT PERSON--THIS WAY--AND MAKE NO TROUBLE!

WHA--!

SO I WAS RIGHT! THE RAY IS OPERATED FROM THIS ISLAND! YOU'LL NEVER GET AWAY WITH IT, BY JUPITER! I CAME HERE TO DESTROY THAT BLUE LIGHT, AND I'M NOT LEAVING UNTIL I DO!

JA WOHL - CAPTAIN, BUT I DON'T THINK YOU ARE IN THE POSITION TO MAKE THREATS--YOU SEE, THIS ISLAND IS CAREFULLY GUARDED--IN FACT, NO ONE CAN GET ON OR OFF WITHOUT FIRST GOING THRU THE BLUE LIGHT THAT SURROUNDS IT!

YOU NAZI'S HAVE DONE ENOUGH DAMAGE! IT'S TIME THE TABLES WERE TURNED!

LOOK, CAP. HERE COMES THE WHOLE OUTFIT!

WE KILL DOSE YANKEE SCHWEIN!

AND FROM ALL DIRECTIONS, NAZIS LEAP AT THE INTREPID CHAMPIONS OF DEMOCRACY...

---BUT CAPTAIN AERO'S SMASHING BLOWS
WREAK HAVOC ON THE ENEMY SOLDIERS!

HERE'S MY SLEEPER PUNCH.
LET ME KNOW
WHEN YOU
WAKE UP!

COME ON, LOOPS, WE'VE
GOTTA FIND THE LEAD-ER OF THIS OUTFIT,
IN A HURRY!

I'M RIGHT WITH YA' CAP!

SUDDENLY, THE BLUE RAY
FLASHES DIRECTLY ACROSS THEIR PATH!

WE'RE TRAPPED!

RIGHT, CAPTAIN! NOW IF YOU WILL WALK TOWARDS THE BARRACKS WITHOUT MAKING TROUBLE, YOU WILL BE SPARED
A HORRIBLE DEATH!

ALLRIGHT, RAT, NOW THAT WE'RE PRISONERS, MAY I
ASK WHAT YOU INTEND DOING WITH US!?!?

THAT MY YANKEE FRIENDS,
THE BLUE FALCON
SHALL DECIDE!

...AND RIGHT NOW, HERR BLITZ!
HM, THE GREAT CAPT. AERO!

DON'T LOOK SO STARTLED,
CAPTAIN! YES, THE BLUE
FALCON IS A WOMAN, BUT WITH MY DEATH BEAM, I'M A MATCH FOR ANY MAN!

YOU'RE LOVELY, TOO BAD YOU PICKED
SUCH A DANGEROUS CAREER!

MY COUNTRY NEEDS ME,
CAPTAIN! WE MUST STOP YOUR BOMBERS FROM REACHING ENGLAND -- I WILL FIGHT FOR THE

FATHERLAND UNTIL DEATH!

YOU FOOLISH GIRL! AMERICA IS ALREADY ON YOUR TRAIL!
WE'LL SMASH YOU, YOUR BLUE BEAM AND ALL OF YOUR CRACKPOT OUTFIT!

TUT, TUT, CAPTAIN -- AND NOW HERR BLITZ, WILL TAKE CARE OF YOU
WHILE I KEEP AN ENGAGE-MENT WITH ANOTHER SQUADRON LEAVING FOR ENGLAND IN THE MORNING!

HEY, WAIT, I
WANT--DARN--
SHE'S GONE!

ALLRIGHT
CAPTAIN, WE SHALL GO NOW!

YOU KNOW HERR
BLITZ, I'M GETTIN' TIRED OF BEING SHOVED AROUND!

SO -- ACCEPT THIS WITH UNCLE SAM'S COMPLIMENTS!

OOOF!

...AND THIS WITH MINE!

MEANWHILE, THE BLUE FALCON TAKES OFF FROM THE ISLAND ON HER MISSION OF DESTRUCTION...

HURRY! --- WE'VE GOT TO STOP HER FROM GETTING AT THOSE BOMBERS!

HOLD IT! THERE'S A PLANE!

YEAH, BUT THE GUARD MAY NOT WANT US TO TAKE IT!

HALT!

SORRY CHUM, I'VE GOT A PLANE TO CATCH!

QUICKLY CLIMBING INTO THE COCK-
PIT, THEY FLASH DOWN THE RUNWAY...

HE SAID THIS ISLAND IS GUARDED BY THE BLUE BEAM--HM, WE HAVE ABOUT ONE CHANCE IN A THOUSAND OF GETTING OUT IN ONE PIECE!

AS AERO CLIMBS INTO THE CLOUDS, THE BLUE BEAM SWEEPS UP AFTER THE ESCAPING PAIR!

AND IMMEDIATELY A SQUADRON OF NAZI PLANES TAKE OFF IN PURSUIT!

SUDDENLY GOING INTO A LOOP, THE MASTER PILOT COMPLETELY ENCIRCLES THE DESTRUCTIVE RAY...

...AND IN A SCREAMING POWER DIVE HURTTLES EARTHWARD!

WITH HIS LANDING GEAR BRUSH-
ING THE TREE TOPS, HE STREAKS
OUT OF RANGE OF THE DEADLY RAY...

...REACHING THE EDGE OF THE ISLAND, HE BANKS SHARPLY AND ROARS OUT OVER THE WATER...

WE MADE IT!
WE MADE IT!

WELL, WELL!
YOU DON'T SAY!

MEANWHILE, MILES AWAY, ANOTHER MIGHTY ARMADA
OF FLYING FORTRESSES LEAVE AMERICA BOUND FOR ENGLAND...

HOURS LATER, FAR OUT OVER THE ATLANTIC,
A LONE PLANE SUDDENLY DIVES DOWN
AMONG THE BOMBERS...

AN INSTANT LATER, ANOTHER PLANE BREAKS
THROUGH THE CLOUDS BEHIND IT!

THERE SHE GOES!
SHE'S DIVING
SMACK AT OUR BOMBERS!

QUICKLY, CAPTAIN AERO
HURTLES DOWN IN FRONT OF THE BLUE
FALCON'S PLANE!

AERO'S POWER
DIVE FORCES
HER TO BANK
ABRUPTLY AWAY!

BUT BREAKING THROUGH THE CLOUDS, THE FLIGHT
OF MESSERSCHMITTS
ROAR TO THE AID OF THEIR LEADER!

HE'S GOOD THAT YANKEE, BUT HE DIDN'T BARGAIN ON THIS -- NOW I'M FREE TO TAKE CARE OF THOSE BOMBERS IN MY OWN LITTLE WAY!

SHE'S GETTIN'
READY TO TURN ON THAT RAY PROPWASH,
WE'VE GOT TO STOP HER!

INSTANTLY
DIVING HIS STOLEN
PLANE, AERO CENTERS THE FALCON'S SHIP
IN HIS GUN SIGHT AND SQUEEZES
THE TRIGGER!

HE SCORES A DIRECT HIT! THE SLUGS SHATTER
THE DEADLY BLUE
BEAM!

PULLING UP SHARPLY, CAPTAIN AERO
THEN TURNS HIS ATTENTION TO THE NAZI SQUADRON!

LIKE AN AVENGING
ANGEL OF DESTRU-CTION, THE MASTER
PILOT WITH GUNS
BLAZING, ROARS
TO THE ATTACK!

AS AERO BLASTS INTO THE FRAY, PROPWASH HANDLES THE REAR GUN WITH DEADLY ACCURACY!

KEEP HER HUMMING PROP! -THE BOMBERS ARE LAMMIN'!

ONE AFTER ANOTHER, THE NAZI MESSERSCHMITTS SPIN CRAZILY INTO THE SEA!

USING EVERY POSSIBLE TRICK THE NAZI PILOTS STRIVE DESPERATELY TO DOWN THE DARTING AND DODGING AERO!

SHOOT HIM DOWN, YOU FOOLS!-- HE'S ONLY ONE AGAINST MANY! UMM, BUT WHAT A ONE!

BOTTLE HIM UP QUICK! HE'S GETTING AWAY!

OH! OH! THEY'RE GANGING UP-- STEADY PROPWASH-- HERE COMES THE GRAND FINALE!

NOW YANKEE-- WE SHALL SEE WHO RULES THE SKIES!

AERO BANKS A SECOND TOO LATE AND A HAIL OF INCENDIARIES RIP INTO HIS TAIL!

SMOKE POURING FROM HIS CRIPPLED SHIP, HE PLUNGES HEADLONG TOWARD THE WATER!

DOWN--DOWN--STREAKS THE STRICKEN PLANE---THREE--FOUR HUNDRED MILES PER HOUR!

GIVE A LITTLE BABY--C'MON GIVE!

DESPERATELY, AERO STRUGGLES WITH THE FOULED CONTROLS!

THEN A MIRACLE HAPPENS THE DAMAGED PLANE RESPONDS!

PULLING UP SHARPLY, AERO SKYROCKETS BACK INTO THE TANGLE OF SCREAMING METAL BIRDS!

HANG ON, PROP. WASH--HERE WE GO AGAIN!

THE NAZI PILOTS ARE TAKEN BY SURPRISE AS AERO, LIKE A FLAMING METEOR, SWEEPS AMONG THEM!

PUTTING EVERY OUNCE OF HIS AMAZING SKILL INTO THE ATTACK--PLANE AFTER PLANE SUCCEUMBS TO HIS WITHERING FIRE, TIL BUT ONE REMAINS...

AND THAT ONE IS THE SHIP OF -- THE BLUE FALCON!

WHAT A FLIER! HE BEAT THEM WITH A CRIPPLED SHIP! THE MAN IS SUPREME--OH, OH, HE'S COMING AFTER ME NOW! SORRY CAPTAIN, BUT IF I GO CAPTAIN, YOU GO WITH ME--AUF WEIDERSSEN!

AS AERO DIVES INTO POSITION ON THE TAIL OF THE ENEMY, HE RECOGNIZES THE PILOT!

GOOD LORD! IT'S HER!--I CAN'T SHOOT A WOMAN--I CAN'T--I'LL FORCE HER DOWN!

NOW!

--AT THE MOMENT OF INDECISION, THE FALCON ACTS--A SUDDEN SIDE SLIP AND...

LOCKED TOGETHER IN AN EMBRACE OF DEATH--THE TWO SHIPS HURTLE DOWN TO A WATERY GRAVE IN THE INKY SEA BELOW--

PROPWASH! PROP! WHERE ARE YOU? HERE I AM, CAP! I'M O.K., I'M ON A PIECE OF WRECKAGE

THANK HEAVEN!-- POOR KID, SHE DELIBERATELY CRASHED US-- WELL, THAT ENDS THE BLUE FALCON!

BUT WHAT IS THAT DARK SPOT, BOBBING ALONG TOWARD THE ISLAND

CAN IT BE THAT THE BLUE FALCON TOO, ESCAPED THE CRASH--DON'T MISS THE NEXT GREAT CAPTAIN AERO comics

HEART AND HEAD

On the Illinois prairie, lunch wagons are frequented by strange characters; here mostly everyone has a plan for tomorrow. Tom Walker, was one such, and as he came through the door, he paused to scan the scene before him, looking from one face to the other he found them all strangers still when taking a seat he felt something of warmth; perhaps the waiters cry of, "Ham and—."

Tom was going to meet life, the call of youth, the thirst for contact with bigger things than he had known in his struggle back there in the city which had hardened him for his place in the sun.

Hurrying away after downing his coffee, his mind on making Rock Island before the next feed, he was already busy searching the road for a lift, when he caught the call, "Pardon me could I ask you a question?" and was somewhat surprised on turning to find he had been followed by a timid comical looking chap almost too weary to stand, the picture of despair.

A good face always got under Tom's skin. He could read the unspoken appeal in the kid's eyes, the manner and the tone, of the voice appealed deeply to his sympathy—looking the kid over he concluded here is a perfect specimen of a mamma's boy, lost in the woods.

You kids who are privileged to draw up a chair three times a day to eat that stuff, "Mom" calls food, try two weeks out there where "Mom" ain't, then you'll know what it's all about. One foodless day with only a glass of water to dry a parched throat sure makes food seem mighty important and home mighty attractive.

Tom knew nothing of the nation-wide police alarm sent out of Boston by banker Franklin, appealing for information with a description of his son; but five minutes chat told the boy's story. Two weeks from the fireside, broke and confused — a soft kid's venture into a hard world. Nothing that a few dollars and lots of advice couldn't smooth out and Tom gave him a double barrel charge.

Knowing all the signs he gave the kid more than advice; anyone is in better shape to take advice after a feed—here was plain hunger and they drifted back to the lunch wagon.

Walking and talking, they had gone quite a few miles before getting that lift into Rock Island where they made straight for the Western Union for he was certain the kid could not handle life on his own and should be home. Western Union has handled many message, but few have given more comfort than that dictated by Tom and signed by the kid telling his parents of his home coming.

Years later Tom Walker faced that kid again. In desperation he had taken a long shot on a difficult road construction job for which he was not properly equipped. Now several months over the completion date for the contract and with winter fast closing in, he was battling to beat a freeze-up and ruin. The kid on finishing college had passed into federal service, drawing the assignment as Inspector on Walker's job—it was a moment of bitter reflection.

"You are running into clay, Tom and I'm not taking clay. I'll send back every load of it."

"Okay kid, no clay—I'll tell the shovel runner to move when he hits it. But get this in your head, we're in for a big freeze, if I'm not done and gone before she hits we'll be snowed in for the winter and the bank gets my outfit next spring; so I'm telling you don't block this work kid, don't block it."

"Do it right is all I ask."

"What about the bridge, do I cross it?"

"The bridge is green Tom, and I'm taking no chances."

"But kid, I sweetened the mix for the bridge deck and it will hold twice its weight right now."

"Tom, I can't take the chance."

"Kid, if I have to haul around by the old road I'm licked, you don't want to break me, do you?"

"Of course not, but that bridge deck is far too green to take a chance putting the trucks over it."

"Now listen kid, don't be near that bridge when I get there, it might not be healthy for you; we're throwing that road in and nothing is stopping us."

Tom Walker turned without another word. This was no time for argument. The threat of the weather and the time clause in the contract forced action. He was seeing red as he was looking failure in the face, he would meet it as he had always met it—fighting—and he meant to fight.

Ten years had passed since Tom had given the kid a ticket for home, and that feed out on the Illinois prairie. Both were conscious of the moral claim this fact injected into the situation, but both men had their standards. Tom did not press the claim he chose to fight.

You need only hear the roar of trucks that came without pause throughout the night to dump their loads, to know that Tom had gone back to the pit to make a fight for it. The kid stood by to encourage and direct his race against time. You could sense his keen desire to be of service as he shouted again and again—"Speed her up boys, dump her here; back out there; pull to the right; swing this way; move rock there; thin it there; bank it in the middle; Casey, trot the old bulldogger straight up the left.

Shortly after midnight one of the truckmen shouted, "Looks like we'll make it if we can cross the bridge, how about it, kid?" — to which he answered, "Sorry, old man, but I can't allow it."

Almost in the next minute he heard the dump man cry—"She's sticking, Bill," then the kid called, "Hold it, let me see what you've got in that load." Trucks were piling up and more were coming, but the kid held up the work with his cry. "Take it back, no clay was my order."

"Aw, kid we gotta finish this job."

"Take it back."

"We can't, the boss would go nuts."

For a second the kid hesitated, then, "Okay take the load up ahead."

"You're gonner let me dump it?"

"Yes, off the fill."

"Kid, Kid! Holy cripes it'll be your funeral."

But the kid ordered the first load dumped off the fill near the bridge, then speaking to the driver, "Tell Tom to move the shovel; let him think I took those loads, but that I won't take any more."

"But kid, when he finds out he'll kill you."

"Get back to the pit, tell Tom the barometer is rising."

The news of rising barometer with its promise of holding the storm which threatened to make it impossible to complete the work, was received back at the rock pit with a cheer by the men who were bone weary from the strain of long hours for the past week in this fight against weather. It also served to soften the anger felt by Tom Walker. If the weather held over the night and he could persuade the kid to let the trucks use the bridge, they could make it even though they had lost an hour moving the shovel. Again was heard the roar of the Diesel and the screech of the friction drum as the bucket swung into action, the routine that must go on through the night.

Every man in the crew was now in his stride, trucks rolling and the shovel eating its way into the bank with the precision of men who felt this fight was also their fight. Tom Walker felt humbled by this show of devotion by men who seemed to do more work than they had ever done before.

The other trucks dumped their loads as the kid directed and he called to Casey, "Run the bulldogger over here; we are going to shove this pile into that hole and build a road down to that ledge running parallel with the bridge and on up to the highway on the other side so that we can get at the last fifty feet without traveling the 25 miles on the old turnpike to make it.

"But without light kid, the man doesn't live who can handle this baby in that cut. Not me, I might tackle it in daylight."

"Get down, get down! I'll handle it."

"Take her kid, but don't say I didn't call it crazy."

"Move back there boys, let those trucks come up; throw those headlights over the span, I've got two hours of hard work in that cut and I don't want a word out of anyone of you."

As he gave her the gas, the bulldogger moved slowly forward shoving a huge quantity of clay and rock into the cut; then she suddenly nosed downward; but he caught her with the emergency; he threw her into reverse and backed on to the roadway. The heavy rain and sleet worried him and made him realize the importance of light. In the dark he might go off the brink, whilst too much speed might cause him to lose control, but the job must be done, and he bent to the task.

Each time he sent the bulldogger towards the edge he was playing with fate. One foot and eternity. A fool and a machine. Ugly night, ugly thoughts.

Each time he backed onto loose gravel he was defying it. Now he was ready to ease her down onto the ledge, something of a prayer escaped his lips; now he was down. Now for reverse, she was crawling, would she slip? No, no, she's making it; each lurch brought sweat that soaked him, he was covered with a sheet of ice as it quickly froze. The hazards he was facing blinded him to every sense, but the safety margins; there on the ledge inches counted.

"Kid, one slip and you are off that ledge for a three hundred foot drop."

"It's your job not to slip."

Down, back, forward, down, hold her, ease it, hundreds of times it seemed this routine, and each time his spirits rose but the strain was hitting him with needle-like darts through the body.

Just a few more trips and the ramp to the ledge would be finished. On and on went the bulldogger shoving rock and clay, spreading and packing as he held on to the controls, easing her to the brink, and back again for more.

"Yes, Carey had something when he warned me." "One more trip and the ramp is ready—now it will hold." "Shove rock into the dip—one trip should do it." "Now send her up, let her rip her path. We are making it, we are making it old girl! Come on baby, come on baby, we can't fail; spread it out; claw your way to the top." "Tear that boulder out of your way, steady baby, steady—there now you've done it."

Now he was driving her back and forth to pack her for the job of supporting the trucks with their load of rock, just a few more runs and he would pass them. Then he came to a stop with a cry. "Well, boys, there she is, take her; shoot those trucks across," and slumped forward exhausted. Carey pulled himself up beside him and backed the bulldogger off the highway and round to the first load that came across sweeping it into the fill—satisfied now that they would make it, and soon again was heard the roar of trucks as they caught the tempo of the thing.

The kid had paid his debt.
